TRUMAN MUM ON POSSIBLE WALLACE MOVE

"No Comment," Is All White House Aides Will Say on Subject.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 14 — Henry A. Wallace declared in a statement today that "I shall go on speaking out for peace wherever men will listen to me until the end of my days." The former vice president of the United States thus defied congressional criticism of the campaign he has been conducting in western Europe against President Truman's foreign policy.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—The White House turned aside today all questions as to what President Truman may do about Henry A. Wallace's speeches abroad criticizing U. S. foreign policy.

"No comment," Presidential Secretary Charles A. Ross said when reporters brought the subject up at his news conference. Bombarded with further questions, he added:

"There is no comment on the Wallace situation in any way, shape or form."

An opportunity for Mr. Truman to talk the matter over informally with prominent senators was presented by a capitol luncheon. He arranged to have lunch with a group of old senate acquaintances there before going to Griffith stadium to toss out the first ball for the Washington-New York opening American league baseball game.

2 Choices Face Truman

It is apparent that the developments are confronting Mr. Truman with the choice of (a) cracking down on Wallace, or (b) facing charges that the administration's foreign policy isn't above politics.

Wallace, highly critical of the Presidents Greek-Turkish aid program, has been roundly criticized in congress for remarks during his current speaking tour of England.

Although they didn't put it just that way, some Republicans made it plain they will have little patience with talk about bipartisan cooperation if Mr. Turman doesn't disavow Wallace despite the political effect such a move might have.

Friends of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), said the chairman of the senate foreign relations committee will be mightily disappointed if the President doesn't act, and soon.

Vandenberg Having Trouble

Vandenberg is having his troubles as it is keeping some of his G.O.P. colleagues in line for the President's program.

Senator Moore (R-Okla) pointed up the Republican view with a week-end statement saying it was "unfortunate that the day prior to Wallace's first speech in London, making an open attack on American foreign policy, President Truman gave him (Wallace), a verbal pat on the back and began to woo him into the 1948 presidential campaign." Moore's statement rolled off the Republican national committee's duplicating machines.

Wallace's Use Of British Radio Hit By English Press

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 14—The government-controlled British Broadcasting Corporation drew criticism in the press today for giving Henry A. Wallace network time for an address last night in which he declared that "the immense power and wealth of America is being used for strategic and military purposes."

Wallace, former Democratic vice president of the United States, made a 15-minute BBC broadcast immediately after the popular quarter-hour "9 o'clock news." Some BBC officials estimated that at least 15,000,000 British heard him.

Earlier, Walace drew some 4,000 listeners for another speech critical of President Truman's plan for $400,000,000 in aid to Greece and Turkey.

He said comment which his speeches here have evoked in the United States senate seemed to show "a hysterical state of mind indicating a feeling that the United States now in all truth is at war with Russia."

In the London Sunday Times, the often influential columnist

L. E. Michel Resigns C. of C. Office; Going To Portsmouth

LOUIS E. MICHEL

Will Take Over Secretaryship in Southern Ohio City in May.

Resignation of Louis E. Michel as secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, to accept a similar position with the Portsmouth Chamber, was announced today by Robert T. Mason, president of the Marion group.

The resignation, which has been accepted by the board of directors, will be effective some time in May, Mr. Michel said.

Mr. Mason said today a meeting of the board of directors would be called some time this week to consider employment of a successor to Mr. Michel.

Secretary Since 1939

Mr. Michel became secretary of the Marion Chamber in January, 1939, succeeding W. D. Brown. He came to Marion in October, 1934, to take a position as an advertising solicitor for The Star. Previously he had been in the advertising department of the Wheeling, W. V., Register.

From March to October, 1945, he was on leave of absence from the Chamber position for wartime service with the American Red Cross as a field director. He was assigned to the U. S. Navy Atlantic fleet training station with headquarters at Norfolk, Va.

Held War Bond Office

He served four years as secretary of the Marion county war finance committee which handled the sale of war bonds in the county. He is a member of the board of trustees of Epworth Methodist church, president of the Marion Philatelic society and a member of the Marion Kiwanis club.

In addition to his duties as secretary of the Marion Chamber he has served as secretary of several Chamber divisions, including those on community development, better business and the retail group. In Portsmouth he will head the Chamber of a city of 46,000 population. While in the Marion position he saw the Chamber membership grow to 716 and the staff increased from two to four persons.

Mrs. Michel is the former Miss Mary Cook of Marion. The Michels and their three sons live at 681 Girard avenue.

MINE SAFETY CLOSING ENDS

Output Shoots Toward Normal; Walkout June 30 Appears in Offing.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, April 14—Spearheaded by re-opening of big captive coal mines in the Pittsburgh-Uniontown area, the safety shutcame to a formal end today. The came toa formal end today. The return to work of thousands of miners shot bituminous production up towards normal.

The solid fuels administration reported output was "pretty much normal" in Pennsylvania. All 13 western Pennsylvania pits of the U. S. Steel Corp. were operating, restoring pig iron production to normal. All four mines of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. idle two weeks, re-opened.

The mines of West Virginia, leading coal state with more than 100,000 miners, neared capacity production.

Ohio Miners Back

Seventy-five per cent of eastern Ohio's 9,000 miners were back at work Employes of one of the two major mines still idle scheduled a work resumption vote for this afternoon.

Some workers entering the Vesta No. 4 mine of Jones and Laughlin at Richeyville, Pa., declared they would be ready to stage a long walkout if no contract is reached with the operators by June 30, when government control of the pits ends.

"We'll stay out then until we get what we want," one miner said determinedly.

Weekend orders in which Lewis directed United Mine Workers district officials to send diggers back to work in pits the union deemed reasonably safe promised a lively increase in production.

Resumption of large scale mining finds fuel consuming industries generally in good shape, thanks to adequate reserves. The work stoppage began April 1 with a six-day mourning period for Centralia, Ill. Mine blast victims, and then continued until Saturday under Lewis' adict that miners would stay at home pending federal inspection of all mines.

Still idle were some 123 pits out of 518 which Interior Secretary Krug ordered closed until specific safety measures were taken. The other 395 have been inspected and found safe. Last week

RUSSIA SAYS TRUMAN USING UN AS BLIND

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 14—Russia charged today that the Truman administration was trying to conceal the "unilateral character" of the Greek-Turkish aid program through a belated effort to stamp it with "the trademark of the United Nations."

In a sweeping attack on the Truman program, Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, told the security council that the amendment proposed in the U. S. senate by Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) only "underlines the unilateral character of the proposed aid."

"This amendment even prejudges in what way the security council and the general assembly must vote if they want to take a decision," he said.

Gromyko referred to Vandenberg's proposal that these UN organs could call a halt to the aid program when, and if, the UN was able to supply the needed aid itself.

"This can be explained only by the fact that the United Nations is ignored," he continued.

Gromyko spoke after Albania had voiced an objection to the $400,000,000 American aid program.

Byrd and Antarctic Expedition Crew Members Back in U. S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and other leaders of the navy's Antarctic expedition returned home today aboard the polar flagship Mount Olympus.

The vessel docked at the naval gun factory on the Potomac river flying a two-starred flag in recognition of the two rear admirals aboard, Richard H. Cruzen, commander of the task force, and Byrd, who was chief of the expedition.

Wives, mothers, babies and friends of the returning adventurers lined the dock. High navy officers, the navy band and an honor guard also met them.

Byrd and Cruzen came down the gangway side by side and shook hands with Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal, Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz and high ranking members of Nimitz' staff.

A spectator called out to Byrd, "Glad to be back, Admiral?"

"You bet," the veteran explorer replied emphatically.

SENATE GROUP APPROVES BILL CURBING LABOR

Committee O.K.'s Provisions To Allow Injunctions in "Paralysis" Strikes.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—The senate labor committee today approved provisions of a general labor bill authorizing issuance of court injunctions to block "national paralysis" strikes.

The committee also voted to establish a new federal mediation agency, independent of the labor department.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) said provisions of a preliminary draft covering both the strike situation and the mediation agency were approved "substantially without change."

He told reporters no formal vote was taken.

The senate committee acted as the house made ready to begin debate tomorrow on a strike-curbing general labor bill. Speaker Martin (R-Mass) forecast that it will pass by a majority of more than 2 to 1.

The senate bills strike provision authorized the attorney general to petition for an injunction—and the courts to grant it—when "substantially an entire industry" faces or is engaged in a strike which imperils national health and safety.

The attorney general could act after obtaining a report from a fact-finding board.

Hold Secret Election

When the injunction had been in effect 60 days, workers would hold a secret ballot election within the next 20 days to decide whether to strike or accept a final settlement offer.

The injunction then would be discharged. If the workers voted to strike, the president could ask congress to take "appropriate action."

What this would be is not specified in the bill, but Taft said congress could decide on government seizure.

Taft said the committee decided to set up an advisory panel of six labor representatives and six industry officials to consult with the director of mediation agency which would be created under the bill.

The senate committee acted as house G.O.P. members were talking over their labor legislation in a party conference.

The bill comes up for debate tomorrow. A two-third majority is necessary to cancel any presidential veto. Martin said he "wouldn't be surprised if it is much stronger than two to one."

The Republican conference, he said, "appeared to be strongly in favor" of the bill. He estimated 150 to 175 of the 245 house Republicans sat in on the meeting.

To End "Tyranny"

Prior to the G.O.P. meeting, a 19-man majority on the labor committee declared in a report that the legislation would protect workers from a "despotic tyranny."

A six-man Democratic minority contended, however, the bill is "deliberately designed to wreck the living standard of the American people" and to "punish labor."

Majority and minority views were made known as the house rules committee cleared the controversial omnibus labor bill for house action tomorrow—and expected passage by Friday.

On the other side of Capitol Hill, Senator Aiken (R-Vt) declared Senator Taft (R-Ohio) had practiced "high-handed political bossism" in the handling of labor legislation by the senate Republicans.

Work On Bill

Aiken's accusation came as the senate labor committee, headed by Taft, gathered in a tense atmosphere to complete work on its own labor bill. His criticism was touched off by a decision of the senate Republican membership to keep the labor legislation tied up in a single measure.

The house rules committee ordered six hours of general debate, the equivalent of two days, followed by unlimited time for consideration of amendments if the house wishes.

But Rep. Lesinski (D-Mich), top Democrat on the house labor committee, conceded that the bill is unlikely to be changed during debate.

House labor committee Republicans, with four southern Democrats siding in, said in the majority report that the labor bill

Phone Strike Left To Labor

White House Reveals Truman Leaving Negotiations to That Department.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—The White House said today that telephone strike negotiations are "in the hands of the labor department."

This was the reply of Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross when asked whether the White House was taking a hand in the nationwide strike. President Truman yesterday turned aside inquiries about the possibility of personal action with no-comment replies.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, planned a direct appeal to Mr. Truman, but disclaimed any desire for government seizure of the industry.

CIO Promises Cooperation

As the nationwide tieup entered its second week, the CIO promised its "effective cooperation" with the striking NFTW unions.

When Ross was asked at his news conference whether John R. Steelman, assistant to the President and one of his labor advisers, was doing anything in connection with the telephone walkout, he replied: "He is not."

Top federal officials told reporters they still are pinning their settlement hopes on labor department efforts.

However, the elaborate negotiations set up in Washington to set the pace for bargaining conferences of Bell system units all over the country failed to bear fruit in the first week.

The flurry which accompanied the tentative agreement on a basis for settling the dispute with the American Telephone and Telegraph company's strategic long lines division died down when the proposed settlement was rejected by the union's national policy committee.

Walk Out On Parley

Even before that, company representatives walked out of the other government- sponsored conference here involving the Bell system's biggest unit, the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

The striking unions contend that A T and T has refused to bargain on their ten nationwide demands and scores of local issues.

The ten demands include a $12 weekly pay inchease, higher pensions and longer vacations, union security and dues check-off. The more than 20 companies in the Bell system offered to arbitrate the wage demands locally but declined to bargain on a system-wide basis.

CIO aid for the independent NFTW unions was announced formally by Organization Director Allan S. Haywood, who said CIO regional directors will meet here tonight to discuss the strike.

MARSHALL PROPOSES ANTI-GERMAN PACT

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, April 14—U. S. Secretary of State Marshall proposed today the immediate appointment by the council of foreign ministers of plenipotentiaries to negotiate a 40-year four-power treaty to insure German demilitarization and disarmament.

Western diplomats reported a steady tightening of France's relations with the United States and Britain as the four-power foreign ministers entered the sixth week of their Moscow peace conference today with a showdown imminent on American proposals to guarantee long-range security against Germany.

The Marshall proposal, observers said, would mean urging Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to accept the pact, since the Soviet position was the only one about which there was any uncertainty.

(Such a treaty first was proposed last April 29 at the ministers' Paris conference by James F. Byrnes, Marshall's predecessor who suggested that it run for 25 years. Molotov at that time hedged it off the conference agenda of work. Later the Russian media of thought the idea [illegible] The Soviet [illegible] pact for [illegible] years.

PLANE HEADS FOR SHANGHAI

Bombshell Crew Thinks Record Will Be Cracked by 26 Hours.

(Pictures on Page 3)

By The Associated Press

CALCUTTA, April 14 — The Reynolds Bombshell swept swiftly toward Shanghai today on the last half of its world flight with its wealthy Chicago owner vowing to set a round the world record of 65 hours if good fortune continues.

The converted A-26 bomber made a perfect landing at this approximately halfway point on the 20,000 mile route today, 33 hours and five minutes after leaving New York.

The unofficial world flight record of 91 hours and 14 minutes was set by Howard Hughes in 1938.

Record by 26 Hours

Milton Reynolds, a manufacturer and owner of the sleek craft, declared:

"Barring accidents, we should break the record by at least 26 hours. Everything has been going all right so far."

His pilot, William P. Odom, of Roslyn, N. Y., said he expected to complete the flight in 65 hours if the weather continued favorable. He complained that the plane had lost more time than anticipated on stops in Gander, Nfld., Paris, Cairo, Karachie and Calcutta.

The twin engine Bombshell took off for Shanghai with 1,974 gallons of gasoline at 4:03 p. m. (5:03 a. m. Marion time) which was 35 hours and 52 minutes after leaving New York. The plane had been at the Dumdum airport for an hour and 57 minutes. It had taken the ground crew 40 minutes to load the great tanks.

The plane required four hours and nine minutes to span the 1,400 miles from the Western Indian border city of Karachi.

Its route to Shanghai was over

RED LEADER FACES PERJURY INDICTMENT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14 — A federal grand jury today indicted Gerhart Eisler, alleged Communist leader, on charges of swearing to false statements under oath when seeking to leave the U. S. in 1945.

Eisler, 54, a German alien who has been living in New York, also is under indictment for contempt of congress. That charge was brought last February when he refused to testify under oath before the house committee on un-American activities.

Eisler was called before the committee after other witnesses described him as the one-time master mind of the Communist movement in the United States.

Today's indictment contained three counts. It charges him with concealing when he sought an alien departure permit from the state department in 1945:

1. "That he was a member of the Communist party.

2. "That he had used and was known by various aliases."

3. "The fact he had been in the United States within the last preceding 10 years of the date of the affidavit."

15-CENT HIKE SETTLED UPON

Six Paid Holidays Included in Pact Effective Immediately.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, April 14—Announcement of an agreement between General Motors Corporation and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (CIO) providing for a 15-cents an hour increase for more than 30,000 employes, was made today in a joint statement of the corporation and the union.

The agreement is effective today. Under its terms all wage rates and classifications of the hourly rated employes represented by the UE-CIO will be increased by 11½ cents per hour.

Six Paid Holidays

The remainder of the 15 cents will be used to cover the cost of six paid holidays and other economic items. Assignment of 3½ cents holiday pay to meet other economic issues was one of the original demands of the union which was agreed to in negotiations.

The holidays for which GM will pay employes represented by UE are New Years, Memorial day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The union's demand for a health, welfare and retirement program will continue a subject for discussion in negotiations. The agreement must be ratified by membership of the four UE unions involved. Under the terms of the agreement, the international union must notify General Motors of ratification by the local membership not later than April 21.

Several Divisions Affected

The divisions of General Motors covered by the agreement are Frigidaire, Dayton, O.; Delco Products, Dayton; Packard Electric, Warren, O., and Delco Appliance, Rochester, N. Y.

The statement issued by H. W. Anderson, vice president of General Motors in charge of personnel, and James J. Matles, director of organization for United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, said:

"This agreement settles the economic issues raised by the UE-CIO and the new agreement may continue indefinitely unless either or both of the parties choose to terminate the contract or reopen it for modification. The earliest date upon which the contract may be reopened or terminated is April 28, 1948 x x x.

"This agreement, arrived at through direct collective bargaining by the parties, recognizes increased living costs and the necessity for maintaining continued, maximum and uninterrupted production to meet the demand for General Motors products. The parties have been in continuous negotiations for the past week.

"Unsettled Economic Status"

"Both parties recognize the unsettled economic status of the country and the need for industry and labor to settle their mutual economic problems."

"This is the first major agreement that has been completed for a year's term in the electrical manufacturing industry."

The union did not demand any specific wage increase but asked for a "substantial" raise and today's agreement is the result of collective bargaining negotiations.

The negotiations were not directly related to those pending between GM and the CIO-United Auto Workers.

Labor Strategy for This Year Frets Heads of Both Parties

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, April 14—Senator Aiken of Vermont says the Republican leaders in congress are trying to put President Truman "on the spot."

Aiken is angry at them, even though he's a Republican himself. It's some spot he's talking about.

James Marlow

Here is the story, which is moving toward a climax.

In 1946 the great strikes so infuriated congress, then run by the Democrats, it decided put brakes on organized labor.

It passed a bill, called the Case bill. This put more restrictions on unions than any bill ever before passed by congress.

Instead of signing it into law, Mr Truman vetoed it That killed it because congress couldn't get the necessary two-thirds vote to re-pass it.

Labor Escapes Curb

So organized labor escaped in 1946 without the new brakes which, for a while, seemed sure to be placed on it.

Then the 1946 elections came along The Democrats lost control of congress to the Republicans.

How much the Republican victory—if any—was due to the voters' anger at Mr. Truman's veto of the Case bill is not known.

The Republicans, fresh in the saddle, opened the new congress in January determined to pass some kind of union-curbing law.

Before they had a chance to do anything, Mr. Truman stepped up with suggestions for some curbs, although mild ones.

At the same time, he suggested congress delay any long-distance labor laws until it could make a long-range labor study.

G. O. P. Brush Off

The Republicans brushed this idea aside. They decided on action now.

They've worked for months on labor legislation. They're pretty close to voting now. The house votes this week, the senate later.

Each house will vote on its own bill and then compromise on a final version.

Both of the present bills go far beyond Mr. Truman's January suggestions.

The house bill, tougher than the senate's puts far more restrictions on unions than the 1946 Case bill would have.

The Republican-run congress, instead of the one big bill which it will turn out, could do a piecemeal job.

Separate Bills

That is, it could pass separate bills to restrict unions in certain ways and send them one at a time to Mr. Truman to approve or veto.

Over the weekend the Republican leaders said they'll put everything into one big bill and send it Mr. Truman to sign into law or veto.

He won't be able to sign only the part he likes and veto the rest It will have to be all or nothing.

As it stands, he seems sure to veto it. It's so much tougher and more far-reaching than what he proposed in January.

It will stay killed if he vetoes it and if the necessary two-thirds of the congressmen don't vote it into law over his veto.

But then who gets blamed—congress or Mr Truman—if great strikes and labor unrest rock the country?

The Republicans undoubtedly will say they handed Mr. Truman a bill to stop such trouble but he vetoed it.

He'll probably say the Republican bill went too far, was worse than no bill, and would have caused even more trouble and unrest.

So Mr Truman will have some decision to make. That's why Senator Aiken — who favors piecemeal labor bills—said his fellow-Republicans are putting Mr Truman on the spot.

But there's another side Suppose Mr Truman signs such a bill into law, reluctantly and protesting that it will cause far more trouble than its supposed to cure.

Then, if violent labor troubles break out, the Republicans' political fortunes would suffer a blow.

Of the total persons seeking work 280 were non-veteran men, 231 were veterans and 151 were women. The total figure was only one greater than the number seeking employment at the end of February, Mr. Scherff said. The total number of Ohioans seeking work through the 92 local offices of the Ohio State Employment service as of March 31 was 110,595, according to Dale Dunifon, administrator of the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation.

Referrals made by the Marion office during March resulted in 220 job placements, an increase of 33.3 per cent over February figures Of the total job placements 104 were veterans and 44 were women Number of referrals during March totaled 430, of which 221 were veterans and 79 were women, according to Mr. Scherff. Referrals showed an increase of 10.5 per cent last month over February figures

According to Mr. Dunifon, total referrals for the state during March resulted in 24,124 job placements, an increase of approximately one-fourth from the February placement figure of 19,604 Mr. Dunifon said increases in job placements occurred principally in the fields of construction, wholesale and retail trade, domestic service, primary metal industries and producers of machinery.

At the close of March there were 22,342 unfilled job openings reported to local offices of the bureau throughout the state, as compared with 18,223 at the end of February and 17,698 at the end of January.

Cardboard Heroes

THE Durocher case and the night club tiff involving Frank Sinatra and a New York columnist at catch weights may be symptomatic of a trend. Both incidents are product of an era which has made common such terms as "glamor," "publicity buildup," "cafe society," "Hooper rating," etc.

Durocher, an efficient baseball manager, and Sinatra, a singer with a special appeal for adolescent girls, might have been nothing more than good journeymen practitioners of their specialties had not press and radio aggrandized them, and many another like them, until their private lives, what they eat, what they think and what they do on all occasions, is news.

This is an age in which the names of much-married oafs, buffoons, guttersnipes and pomaded popinjays are household words. The latest quip of one of them as a guest star on a radio program is heard in a couple of million homes Their goings and comings in the night clubs of New York and Hollywood are duly recorded in the gossip columns of newspapers. Their opinions are sought—or, if not sought, at least readily volunteered—in national political campaigns. The fact that they may consort with gangsters and gamblers is blithely glossed over.

These minuscule men blown to gigantic size by modern publicity media acquire an exaggerated sense of their own importance. They develop a sensitivity to unfavorable publicity, with resultant camera-smashing and quick oral or physical encounters in the gathering-places of New York and Hollywood.

The newspapers and radio are largely to blame for this race of cardboard heroes, some of whom have their most fervent admirers and defenders in the younger generation. That's the most serious aspect of the situation. That's the aspect that should be considered first in the "deglamorization" campaign so sorely needed.

Spring Is Here

THAT SPRING is here is fait accompli, as the diplomats say; res adjudicata, as the lawyers say, or plain as the nose on your face, as the fellow sitting next to you on the bus says.

For a while it seemed as if spring never were going to arrive. A milkman, taking a short cut across a lot late last month, suddenly found himself up to his eyebrows in snow when he walked into a new cellar excavation. However, the hazards of March blizzards are past now, and within a few days it will be possible to follow the progress of your favorite baseball team as you walk down the street and radio accounts of its games come at you from one open window after another.

Yes, spring is here. It is no longer a mirage which the frostbitten traveler wishfully discerns in a snowscape. It is no longer a figment generated in an editorial writer's brain as he plies himself with nose drops and other aromatic unguents. Spring is real, fresh, vernal, and, best of all, is offered this year at no advance in prices.

Rationing Psychology

STRONG-DRINK rationing comes to an end in Ohio a month and a-half short of four years of experience in one of the most interesting branches of wartime psychology.

The tension of being at war combined with the purchasing power of the war boom made it certain that demand would run away with the liquor supply. Human beings respond to stimulation by wanting more.

Under liquor rationing, those who wanted more than their share were restrained after a fashion. At the same time, those who didn't want any lined up to get what was coming to them, on the sound premise that if they didn't get it someone else would. Rationing saved the way—in hard liquor and a lot of other things during the war years. It also proved that the surest way to make the public want something is to tell the public it can't have more than its share.

Fact and Fantasy

WHEN a New York City bus driver began improvising his own route and wound up in Florida, it afforded a chuckle for all who read it, and there was a mild flurry of philosophizing about the latent urge in us all to break out of the grooves or ruts we follow in our daily rounds

The general attitude toward the driver was one of amused tolerance. Even his employers didn't appear to take the incident too seriously and got him out on bail. However, when police began checking into the driver's record, they learned he was a convicted bookmaker unable to meet $2,000 in gambling debts. The fact that he was found at a race track wasn't pure coincidence.

The moral of this little vignette is that people are not always what they seem. He who at first glance appears to be an escapist answering the springtime call of the open road may in reality be nothing more than a bookmaker on the lam.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Viewing Factors in Lilienthal Confirmation.

WASHINGTON, April 14—The Lilienthal confirmation has been publicly displayed as the result of a split right down the middle of the Republican party with 20 Republican senators for him and 27 against It has been popularly portrayed as a rebellion against the Taft leadership by Senator Vandenberg.

It was far deeper, more subtle and more portentous than that. Truly enough, the senate Republicans split almost even numerically, but the officers of the party were sided with Taft. Furthermore, while Vandenberg furnished the publicity impetus for the rebellion, it originated in another source. The nominations were considered in the committee of Republican Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa. His support of them, and cooperation with the Democrats, was considered significant in the senate cloakrooms because one of the members of the proposed atomic board is William W. Waymack, 58-year-old editor of the Des Moines newspaper of the Cowles brothers, leaders in the Stassen wing of the Republican party. Vandenberg worked with former Gov. Stassen in the original American delegation which set up the United Nations organization and they were in a rhetorical way its secondary fathers

See Stassen Strengthened

Thus, while the press accounts are heralding the confirmation as a Vandenberg victory, the somewhat wiser cloakrooms of congress are calling it really a Stassen victory. Incidentally, in these same quarters, the whisperers are prophesying a recrudescence of the Stassen presidential campaign when the former Minnesota governor returns from having seen Stalin during his current trip to Moscow.

Even this rebellious coalition with the Democrats, however, had to make some concessions to extricate the appointment from its three months senate conflict. Some of the Republican votes gained for Lilienthal were drawn into support by being told their approving votes would be a rather technical endorsement. They were told this (and I think this story won the doubtful votes): The entire atomic bomb board had actually been serving since last October, and if Lilienthal was beaten the entire list would have to be revised Thus a whole new fight would open under prospects that there might not be an atomic board for a long time, thus also providing a "dangerous delay" in the development of atomic energy regulation.

Bid for Votes

The actual alternative offered these wavering votes was whether to let the present list slide into "the most important appointments a president ever made" (quotes are from a New York Herald Tribune story), with the chance that congress could keep the board from doing too much or to open consideration of a new panel to start work afresh

It is no injustice to anyone to report that practically no senator liked the idea of voting for Lilienthal and the board Senate reporters commonly say this among themselves and believe it to be true Possibly this common assertion may be exaggerated as far as the Democrats are concerned, because Truman lost only four votes from his party on the final roll.

The board which is supposed to plan the next era of mankind therefore enters upon its duties officially under a somewhat doubtful cloud. But scientists rarely understand politics Lilienthal was charged by Senator McKellar with being soft on Communism. This may have been a defective allegation (although it was proved) because it could be excused by the knowledge that many New Deal officials were similarly soft. In fact bureau officials let so many Communist sympathizers get in, the government, Mr Truman cannot now get rid of them It is true also Lilienthal may have been called in the debate some things he was not. But this may prove to be of less importance than the fact that he was not called what he is. He is one of the original Frankfurter boys from Harvard Law school, one of the original New Deal brain trusters and therefore an unusual appointee for a White House occupant like Mr. Truman, as well as an unusual one for Republicans to support. His board of Dr. Bacher, the Cornell physicist, who like Waymack is not in Who's Who, Lewis Straus, the New York investment banker who was only incidentally a Navy man, Waymack and Samuel Pike, who has long been a Republican businessman in this administration—this board was not expertly or objectively analyzed politically in the long debate. Lilienthal's character and background, it appears, would run in favor of a democratic form of socialism, but the character of the board has not been estabished to any apparent extent for the quasi-socialistic job it is to do on atomic energy development.

The confirmation thus leaves behind in congress a sure prospect that its actions will be as closely scrutinized as has been the development of Lilienthal's TVA, at least. There may be trouble.

Just a Minute

By JACK TARVER

Harmony Comes to Russia-U. S. Relations

Beginning today, Benny Goodman will serve as musical adviser to the state department in connection with its daily short-wave broadcasts to the Russians.

One had heard that a new note was going to be struck in our efforts to get along with the Soviet, but who had expected it from a clarinet?

It is thought that jazz music will prove a welcome novelty in the USSR, where most swing musicians have long since swung.

I only hope the Russians will understand Music speaks a universal language, but in Benny's case, it's with a hep-cat dialect.

Exponents of traditional modes of diplomacy will shudder as halfway around the world is broadcast the new invitation to international amity "Greetings, Gate, Let's Negotiate."

The thought has doubtless occurred to the state department. But isn't there a possibility that the Russian Comrade's aversion to loyalty will extend to the King of Swing?

How We Look To Russia

AN IRONIC account of Moscow's new theatrical success, "The Russian Question," comes from Newbold Noyes Jr., Russian correspondent of the Washington Star.

The play presents a comrade's-eye view of the American newspaper and book publishing business. Mr. Noyes prefaces his remarks with the observation that if he had the money he would stage this masterpiece in America where it should surely make such plays as "Tobacco Road" and "Life With Father" look like one-night stands

The play is about a newspaper correspondent named Harry (pronounced Garry) Smith who loses his job, his wife and his money because he doesn't want to write a book titled "The Russians Want War" The Washington Star review says "Just learning about the mannerisms of the inhabitants of the United States would be worth the price of admission to any American. The way, every two or three minutes, we drink another glassful of whisky straight, is clearly detailed in the course of the drama. So is the way American reporters constantly refer to themselves as pigs.

"It is hard to say what feature of the play American audiences would like best. Certainly the settings would appeal strongly to them. There is the press club scene, for example—a room which from time to time is filled, for no apparent reason, with music which appears to float from an enormous juke box in the corner. At least I think it as a juke box, although the top of it was filled with liquor bottles instead of records. The room had purple walls and brown overstuffed chairs."

The play also "reveals that, except when slandering Russia or discussing whisky or our piggishness, no American ever talks or thinks about anything except money—not even when making love. Thus, five seconds after getting an engagement ring, the American heroine starts talking about the finances of the future family."

The author of "The Russian Question" is Konstantine Simonov, who, oddly enough, wrote "The Whole World Over," which opened in New York recently and was praised by the reviewers as a light, pleasant comedy devoid of propaganda. Simonov visited the United States last year as the guest of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Too Many Divorces

THE number of divorces in the United States nearly doubled during the war years, and if the current rate of increase continues, annual divorce totals will match marriage totals within the next decade, the Public Administration Clearing House reports.

There were 502,000 divorces in the nation in 1945 and 1,618,000 marriages during the same period In 1940, before the war put an unprecedented stress on the bonds of matrimony, there were 264,000 divorces and 1,595,000 marriages. Thus, while divorces during the final year of the war were more than 90 per cent higher than in 1940, the national marriage rate was up less than 1.4 per cent

Recognition of this grave problem is found in actions by several state legislatures to tighten divorce and marriage laws. Wisconsin is considering a bill which would require divorced men who have children to receive court permission before remarrying. This is to prevent remarriage of men who have records of non-support or whose income could not support two families.

Maine is considering requiring a divorced person to wait a full year before remarrying. They may remarry immediately now. Michigan is considering raising its residence requirement for divorce applicants from six months to two years and providing a six-month cooling-off period before the suit can be tried.

Iowa's State Bar Association recommends legislation providing for court appointment of lawyers to investigate uncontested divorces to prevent misrepresentation of facts by plaintiffs in such suits.

The Cloud on the Horizon

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON, April 14—The truth about the President's mysterious special cabinet meeting to discuss high prices is as simple as it is bleak. The surface topic was prices. But the real stimulus to discussion was the administration high command's very real fear that price maladjustments may cause a business setback or depression. The President and his advisers see a cloud on the horizon, and suspect that it may become an economic cloudburst next fall. And the worst of it is, the administration has thus far been unable to find any remedy for the situation, except for the country to grit its teeth and take what comes

It is not considered that the setback will be long lasting Nonetheless, the possible political repercussions are causing alarm. No administration likes the notion of a business setback beginning 12 months before a national election. Accordingly, since more positive counter-measures are considered impractical, one can look for a deal of exhortation to business to reduce prices during the months ahead.

Situation Analyzed

A number of different sets of figures have been prepared within the administration to illuminate the nature of the economic danger. One such statistical analysis, with the accompanying arguments, may be briefly summarized as follows:

In the year 1946, the federal reserve board cost of living index rose from 129.9 to 153.1, or almost as much as during the whole four years after Pearl Harbor. The cost of living is now 50 per cent higher than it was before the outbreak of war in Europe. During 1946 and the first part of 1947, the high cost of living did not interrupt the boom from which it resulted Full employment increased consumer demand. People spent more of what they earned, so that the rate of savings declined from a 1944 peak of $38 9 billion to $18 8 billion in 1946. Long-delayed capital expenditures maintained a high level of business activity. And those who were not earning enough to make both ends meet borrowed money to pay their bills. The rate of individual debt formation almost doubled, rising to $6 billions annually in 1946. It is still running at $500 million a month

Income Distribution General

But this situation is considered temporary, although the benefits of prosperity have been unusually widely dispersed. Industry has taken a huge share, with the highest profits in history—$12 billion for 1946 as a whole, about $4 billion a quarter currently, and as high as 42 per cent of return on net worth for one or two luxury industries like distilling The share of the 14 million organized workers has also been very large, with industrial wages averaging $1 18 cents an hour base rate. And despite their immemorial plaints, the farmers have also done well. The trouble is that industry and its stockholders, the organized workers and the farmers constitute, in effect, a privileged minority.

There remain the unorganized workers of all categories, 30 million of them in all, or more than half the Americans now gainfully employed Exact statistics on their earnings are not available But their average base pay is believed to be around 70 cents an hour, and most of them do not enjoy the overtime and other benefits of the organized workers In this enormous group, high prices are now thought to be rapidly drying up buying power

Effects Being Felt

Already the effect of the unbalance between buying power and prices is beginning to be felt in certain fields Of all the controls originally established by the government in wartime, credit controls are the most important which still remain. They are certainly not severe. For example, a one-third down payment and the balance with in 15 months is the rule for automobiles. But pressure is already building up from many sources, notably the strongholds of the motor makers, to relax these credit consirols still further. This implies fear that present prices can not be maintained, unless an artificial market is also maintained by permitting more people to borrow more money. The price reductions by several of the motor makers would probably not have taken place, in the opinion of the administration, if credit controls had been relaxed in response to pressure.

Widespread voluntary price cuts and wage rises for the low-income groups seem equally impossible. Therefore it is expected that the developing price-buying power unbalance will cause the setback, which in turn will force price adjustments.

Fortunately it is thought that the setback will be only temporary, because of the remaining volume of savings; because even the increase in debt formation has not brought the country to its 1929 state of living on credit; and because of the new anti-depression shock absorbers like the social security system.

Placing the Blame

But despite this long-range optimism, one can already see the beginnings of a great scapegoat hunt. The Republicans will be blamed because they scuttled OPA. The business men will be blamed for their prices. The control-minded faction of the administration will blame the anti-control group, because the anti-controllers joined the Republicans in tossing rationing, raw materials allocations and the excess profits tax out of the window. The one group that will not be blamed is that group really guilty—all of us, the American people, who unanimously wanted to go on a spree as soon as the war ended.

The UN Arcade

There is talk of an arcade of shops on the ground floor of the new United Nations home on the East river, New York. Our fear is that we may near of a proposal for an Aquacade a Futurama and Flea Circus any day now.

Elmer Twitchell, ever with an eye to business is out to get the rental rights on all the proposed arcade marts The people must be made to feel closer to UN, he says, and nothing will bring New Yorkers and visitors closer than a shopping center on the premises. "But there is one thing I won't stand for around the home of this great peace organization," he declared today, "and that's an Army and Navy surplus war stock salesroom."

And only over my dead body will there be any shooting galleries, archery courts, or gun stores," he snapped.

Elmer thinks there should be one or more gypsy tearooms for visitors who want to know about the future "It should also be a great help to the delegates," he says.

He also favors a super apothecary shop with ready supplies of first aid supplies, aspirin rose-colored glasses and all the vitamins that are a help to the backbone

Other stores on the Twitchell blueprint follow

1. A store carrying such equipment as agenda coolers, veto eradicators, wrinkle removers, anti-needling kits, voice restorers and ear plugs for use during Gromyko addresses.

2. Sports shop carrying flying trapezes, muscle builders, equipment for skating on ice and instructions on council chamber wrestling.

3. A few snack bars called "Joe, Ernie and George's."

4 Movie theater. (The hired help is entitled to sneak off now and then for a little sleep)

5. A good old-fashioned saloon carrying bock beer for a nickel a glass (Mr. Twitchell is especially serious about this one. He says the world has never been the same since the nickel glass of beer disappeared and that the return of bock beer in the spring would be a tremendous influence for peace and understanding.)

6. A replica of an old-fashioned country store with cracker barrels and an iron stove "Any argument that UN couldn't settle could be settled here," insists Elmer. "In fact if UN has much more trouble I'd abolish its conference chamber and have all meetings on cracker barrel levels."

7. Souvenir and gift shop. (Elmer is a little skeptical about this, however. He isn't sure whether souvenir postcards and gifts picked in a hurry and sent to friends and relatives help peace or just start new wars)

8 News store Mr. Twitchell says the diplomats are as much entitled to find out what's going on in the world as anybody else.

9. Barber shop (It is Elmer's notion that this shop should have American and British barbers and that Gromyko have American and British barbers and that Gromyko should be made to come there for a shave. This might clear up everything)

10. Popcorn peanut and pink lemonade emporium "I have a definite feeling," says Elmer, "that the atmosphere around UN is too cold and stiff It needs the mellowing influence of the big top It requires a circus aroma. I don't care who the world diplomat is, he will feel better and be a better bet for peace if he can get popcorn and peanuts when he wants 'em."

Double Dutch

By TRUMAN TWILL

All the little girls in our neighborhood are jumping rope, which is their normal way of responding to spring sunshine and robins warbling among the swelling buds. But there is more to jumping rope than springtime, if we may be so sinister.

Sooner or later the members of each new generation of females must prove themselves The little boys do it with baseball, marbles, mumble-the-peg, fence-walking, tobacco-chewing and so on. The little girls do it with a hunk of clothesline.

The idea is to get things organized, then outdo each other The same little biddies who used to blow a gasket doing double-dutch to prove they could are now the big bidnies throwing out their chests and improving the lot of man.

The little girls may not know what it's about while they're proving how agile they are in the presence of a whirling clothesline, but they find out. Inquiring among the girls of yesterday and career women of tomorrow who help to beat out this newspaper day by day, we found the competitive fire still glowing.

One recalled with tart relish that she could do 250 jumps without going out. That, she explained, was darned good jumping, the best in her neighborhood. Another, who must have lived in a neighborhood where the competition was easier, boasted about doing 102 jumps in a row

One of the office career women said her girlhood had been blighted by lack of girl playmates. She never had jumped rope. Instead she played baseball with the boys, which was out of her girlish league. These office females could get wistful just thinking about rope-jumping Those were the days ..

"Mable, Mable, set the table"—"Rise water rise"—"House for rent, inquire within, when I move out Mary moves in"—"One-two, button your shoe, three-four shut the door." They knew that the little boys had an eye peeled for the girls who stayed in longest and did double-dutch with the biggest flourish

That's why rope-jumping preoccupies little girls in springtime. It's the way they prove themselves, their first challenge, their first opportunity to get things organized so they can show off and put less graceful little girls in their places, the clumsy little twirps.

The little sweetheart who brings the rope to school each day and can't wait to get things started is the one who can do double-dutch with her eyes shut, you can bet on that. You can pick out the women of tomorrow on the playgrounds of today. You can pick out the rope-jumpers of yesterday by looking at the women of today. You, lady, and you and you and you. Sensational weren't you?

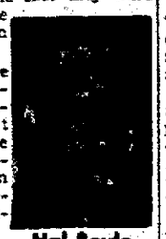
"Professional" Southerners All Gone North

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, April 14 — The funniest thing to find in the south today is a "professional southerner."

I just came back from a seven-week trip through several southern states—my first—without meeting a single one of the celebrated gentlemen who make a career out of the fact they were born below the Mason - Dixon line.



Hal Boyle

In his native and the "professional southerner" that strange vehicle of dying prejudice and outworn gentility is becoming a museum piece.

"Most of them hang out in New York barrooms, making themselves ridiculous because the damnyankees there, because nobody here will listen to them anymore," said a friend I met in Raleigh, N. C.

Give South Bad Name

"They give the south a bad name by creating the impression everybody down this way is still fighting the War Between the States.

"They talk about the fine life their families used to live on the old plantations! Most of them never owned anything bigger than a peanut patch."

The typical inhabitant of the "honeychile and you all" land today is anything but a white-moustache-and mint-julep character.

The southerner is made up of a series of concentric circles of pride and patriotism. The core circle is himself, and each man is loyal to his own worth. That is why there is little fawning on wealth. A southerner has too much self-respect to admit his neighbor with a larger bankroll is any better man.

Family Circle Next

Next comes the circle of family, the tradition of the clan, much stronger than in the northern metropolitan cities. When a southerner greets you with a friendly "Hello, cousin," he's symbolically paying you the highest tribute he can—taking you into the family. Only in China have I seen closer knit families—but in China ancestor worship is a religion. In the south ancestor worship is a pleasure. Thus the son of "Big Tom" Wilson, North Carolina's famous bear hunter, hung up his rifle when he was one bear short of his father's record, because he didn't want to take any luster from "Pappy's" name.

The other circles that make up the southerner are those of state, region and nation. These he will defend, in order, against any comer with words or wounds. Southerners take their fighting tradition—and their whisky—seriously.

"The reason the south had such a high rate of draft board rejections," one said, "is that the able-bodied men didn't wait to be called up. They volunteered."

The courtesy so noteworthy to visitors isn't hypocritical. It is solidly based on each man's sense of individual dignity. You have the feeling that the people who didn't learn to respect the other fellow have long since died off—suddenly.

"One thing sure about the south," a South Carolinian told me, "our worst scoundrels at least are polite."

YOUR HEALTH

Sulfas and Penicillin

I have been asked many times recently whether the sulfonamide drugs, which are somewhat hazardous to use, have not been outmoded by the newer, safer and more effective penicillin.

In many ways they have. Penicillin is very potent and very safe. While harmful effects do occur at times with sulfonamides, they are not as a rule very serious if the sulfonamides are discontinued at once. For these reasons, they are rightly used in the treatment of many infections.

This is not to say, however, that the sulfonamide drugs have lost their usefulness. Far from it. They are still our best weapon against some very dastardly killers indeed. It simply means that, knowing more about them than we ever did before, we are able to use them precisely—against just those germs and diseases which they best combat.

In many infections, according to Dr. Wesley W. Spink of the University of Minnesota, the sulfonamide drugs are even to be preferred to penicillin. For example, infections of the bladder and the pelvis of the kidney are often caused by certain bacilla which penicillin cannot attack. With even small doses of the sulfonamide drugs, relatively high amounts are excreted by the kidney and this as a rule will overcome the infection due to this particular type of bacillus. Dr. Spink recommends sulfadiazine in these cases.

In a condition called meningococcic meningitis usually within 24 hours after beginning treatment with sulfadiazine the spinal fluid becomes normal. Meningococcic meningitis is an infection of the lining membrane over the brain. The sulfadiazine is given by mouth every four hours or it may be given by injection into a vein. In severe cases penicillin as well as anti-meningococcic serum may be used together with the sulfonamide drugs.

In meningitis which is due to the influenza bacillus sulfadiazine and anti-influenza serum are used together. The new drug, streptomycin, also is effective in this condition.

Meningitis may also be caused by pneumococci. Sulfadiazine and penicillin used together have been quite successful in reducing the mortality from this disease from 100 per cent, to less than 25 per cent.

In a certain type of dysentery of bowel infection due to a germ known as the Shigella, sulfadiazine is usually employed together with another sulfonamide drug called sulfasuxidine. The latter preparation is not absorbed to any extent from the intestine, and hence it remains there and helps to check the growth of the germs producing the difficulty.

The sulfonamide drugs have other uses. For example, they have been given to children who have had rheumatic fever in order to prevent further attacks of this condition. In such cases the drug is given daily in a small dose throughout the year.

Sulfadiazine also has been found helpful in lessening complications from scarlet fever and respiratory infections due to streptococci.

Of course, the doctor in all cases will decide what sulfonamide preparation to employ and what dose to administer.

30 SUITS LOST IN FIRE

By The Associated Press

OXFORD, O., April 14—Fire in a housing unit for men students at Miami university last night caused damage of about $10,000. Jack Kuna, a sophomore from Osborn, O., reported 30 suits he had collected as student agent for a Hamilton dry cleaning company, were destroyed.

Burroughs Club Marks Thirtieth Anniversary

THE thirtieth anniversary of the organization of the Burroughs Nature club was observed with a dinner and program Saturday evening and a field trip Sunday morning. Speaker for the dinner was Arthur R. Harper, field naturalist with the conservation education department, Ohio Division of Conservation, who also accompanied the members and a number of non-club members interested in nature study on the field trip.

Covers were placed for 50 at the dinner held at Hotel Harding. Decorations for the table were sweet peas and candles in pastel shades and places were marked with favors which were arrangements of sweet peas in small containers. Mr. Harper talked on "Our Heritage in the Wealth and Beauty of Natural Life in Ohio," and showed slides of interesting beauty spots and birdlife of the state.

Greetings were extended by Mrs. John H. Clark, president of the club and the response was given by Miss Grace Wingett, a charter member. LABOR STRIFE RISE DIMS STEEL OUTLOOK

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 14 — The outlook for the steel industry in the immediate future "is clouded by threat of serious labor trouble in the offing," says the magazine Steel.

Although the "current coal mine stoppage appears to be petering out," there continues an "ominous threat of widespread shutdown of furnaces for lack of fuel," it said.

Even though the coal barrier is hurdled prospects for continued high steel production over the remainder of the year are darkened by lack of progress in working out a new steel wage contract" and talk of a steel strike April 30 "is being bandied about alarmingly," said the trade journal.

"Some markets opinion leans to the view a token cut of $1 to $2 per ton in base steel prices may be forthcoming, especially should first quarter data show steel earnings substantially above those in the last quarter of 1946," said Steel.

The national steel operating rate held up "surprisingly well" last week in the face of fuel shortages, Steel noted, the loss of five points to 86 per cent of rated capacity at Youngstown being the only drop. The national average declined, as a result, to 96.5 per cent, off half a point.

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

"ACCIDENT," CLAIMS DANCER OF SHOOTING

By The Associated Press

HAVANA, Cuba, April 14—Secret police said today that dancer Patricia Schmidt, 21, of Toledo, O., reiterated that the fatal shooting of John Lester Mee, 33, Chicago lawyer, was an accident.

Mee, shot in the neck Tuesday on board the $40,000 72-foot yacht Satira in Havana harbor, died yesterday in the Anglo-American hospital. An autopsy was planned today.

Miss Schmidt and Charles Jackson, 27, of River Forest, Ill., have been held without formal charges since Saturday at the direction of Judge Manuel Mencia of the court of instruction, investigating the case. The 72 hours during which they can be held without charge under Cuban law will be up tomorrow noon.

Secret Police Chief Benito Jerrera quoted Miss Schmidt Saturday night as saying that she had fired the shot that felled Mee. He said she added, "I did not mean to kill him—the pistol went off."

Vet Hospital Waiting List Reported Shorter

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—The veterans administration said today the waiting list at its hospitals is one-fifth shorter than it was nine months ago.

The acquisition of surplus military hospitals and an increased "turn-over" of patients, resulting from improved methods of treatment, helped to whittle down the hospital queue, the agency explained.

There were 22,286 veterans awaiting hospital admission on March 31 compared with 29,450 on July 1, 1946.

LEADING STOCKS SINK TO NEW 1947 LOWS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 14—Leading stock hit further new lows for the year or longer in today's market as virtually all departments were subjected to active selling.

Sizable blocks appeared at a lively opening. Steels, motors, rubbers and rails were in supply. The pace slowed at intervals but volume was relatively large. Losses of fractions to 3 points predominated near midday.

Apprehension over labor rifts, wage-price situations, business prospects and foreign affairs again received the principal blame for the extension of liquidation. Investment services were mostly on the bearish side.

In the retreating column were Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Goodyear, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern Railway, Schenley, American Woolen, International Harvester, American Smelting, Union Carbide, DuPont, Johns-Manville and U. S. Gypsum.

Canada Urged To Join Union

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14 — Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the senate foreign relations committee urged today that Canada join the Pan-American union to complete "total new world unity."

Vandenberg told representatives of the 21 American republics he hopes this tightening of "continental fellowship" can be accomplished soon.

"The 22nd chair has been empty long enough," the Michigan senator said in an address prepared for ceremonies commemorating the 57th anniversary of the founding of the union.

"By every rule of righteousness she (Canada) is eligible to this association," Vandenberg said. "By every rule of reason we should wish her here. I would welcome the final and total new world unity which will be nobly dramatized when the 22nd chair is filled and our continental brotherhood is complete from the Arctic circle to Cape Horn."

Don Swearingen Faces Indictment at Kenton.

Special to The Star

KENTON, April 14 — Don Swearingen, 26, formerly of Orchard street, Marion, was arrested last night in Ironton and brought here today by a group of law enforcement officers headed by Hardin County Sheriff Randall Clark.

Swearingen was indicted in absentia on charges of armed robbery, burglary and larceny recently by the Hardin county grand jury. He is believed implicated in the hold-up of Forest Inn near Ada in early March and burglaries of sporting goods stores throughout this area.

Indicted and awaiting trial at Kenton on similar charges are three other Marion youths, Swearingen's brother, Delmer, 18; his nephew, Billy, also 18; and Samuel Stiffler, 19. A 16-year old Morral youth is being held for disposition by juvenile court. John Taylor Jr., 22, of 396 Leader street is awaiting trial in Columbus, having been indicted there on like charges.

Swearingen was captured last night after a group of law enforcement officers surrounded his rooming house in Ironton. When they went in he was found to be sleeping and offered no resistance.

In the party in addition to Sheriff Clark were Marion Police Captain Ora DeWees, C. and O. Railroad Detective E. J. McBee of Marion, Hardin County Deputy Sheriff Fred Wood, and Ironton police.

Swearingen has maintained silence since his capture, according to Sheriff Clark.

He will be arraigned before Common Pleas Court Judge Arthur Tudor this week.

LEGISLATORS PLAY HOOKEY AT BALL PARK

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 14—Many members of the legislature planned to attend major league baseball openers in Cincinnai and Cleveland tomorrow, and a full attendance at sessions of the Ohio general assembly was not anticipated until Wednesday afternoon.

In fact, it was probable that scarcely more than a quorum would be on hand to do business tonight and tomorrow afternoon and consequently only matters of minor importance and of uncontroversial nature were slated for consideration at those sessions.

The ball games caused the house military affairs committee to delay receiving the report of its sub-committee on soldiers' bonus legislation until Wednesday afternoon.

Proponents of the Daniels-Cramer school bill will be heard by the house education committee on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Opponents of the measure will be heard next week, and final committee action is not anticipated before the week of April 28.

The senate education committee will begin consideration of a bill to investigate reports of un-American activities in schools, collets and universities.

The conference also endorsed the Chicago proposition to increase salaries of the International officers.

Speakers at the sessions included Peter J. LARGE CROWD SEES ARMY DAY PARADE

1,000 Marchers End Week's Observance Here.

Despite chilly weather, an estimated 6,000 to 7,000 persons turned out Saturday night to see the Army Day parade, marking the end of a week of observances here.

About 1,000 participated in the parade. They were members of veterans organizations, civic groups, Boy Scouts and bands.

Many of the spectators watched the parade from cars which lined the route of the march. The parade started on West Center street near Olney avenue, followed Center street to South Vine, went over South Vine to East Church and back Church to Orchard street. It lasted about 45 minutes.

Members of the following organizations participated: highway patrol, city police, fire department, Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162, American Legion; GI Post No. 584, American Legion; Glenn W. Ashworth Post No. 28, AMVETS; Marion Post No. 3313, V.F.W.; Marion Voiture No. 48, 40 et 8; Dyer J. Bird Chapter, Rainbow Division of Ohio; Marion Chapter No. 22, Disabled American Veterans; Buckeye Aerie No. 337 of Eagles and auxiliary; Marion chapter, Reserve Officers association; Co. C, Ohio National Guard; Co. M, Ohio State Guard; Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts; Harding High school and Eagles bands.

Army equipment in the parade including nine ducks, a jeep with sound equipment, a seven and one-half ton snow plow, trucks, searchlights and other motor vehicles.

Much of the equipment was set up during the day around the courthouse and personnel at the Army recruiting station estimated 5,000 viewed the exhibit.

MINES

ended with production touching 60 per cent of normal.

Failure to receive the latest Lewis return to work order was likely to delay renewal of full production in some areas—principally Illinois. In other sections, tardy action by local committees seemed certain to hold up scattered reopenings.

The June 30 strike threat stems from the fact that the date marks the end of government control of the mines unless congress makes some other provision. And Lewis and the operators are still far apart on any contract to replace that now held by the UMW with the government.

ALL BUT TWO MINES IN OHIO REOPENED

COLUMBUS, O., April 14—All but two major coal mines in Ohio's eastern field resumed production today, with about 75 per cent of the tri-county area's 9,000 miners back on the job.

Although production was far from normal, miners said the lag was customary after a holiday such as the miners began two weeks ago as a memorial to their fellow workers.

MAPLE FESTIVAL SMASHES RECORDS

By The Associated Press

CHARDON, O., April 14—The eighteenth annual Geauga county maple festival which closed yesterday exceeded all previous records, Wayne Johnson, secretary-treasurer of the festival, declared today.

"We had hoped for a good turnout, but this year's festival went far beyond our expectations," he said.

All roads leading into Chardon were clogged by automobiles yesterday were lured into the community. Parking space in the town was virtually impossible to find. The three-day show attracted more than 100,000 persons.

Principal guest of the day was Congressman-at-large George H. Bender (R-Cleveland) who declared that the war's major lesson to urban and rural dwellers was their complete interdependence.

In one of the festival features yesterday two sawers from Port Washington, O., claimed a world record-equalling performance by sawing an 8 by 8 timber in four second flat. The woodcutters were unable to name the previous record-holders but were convinced they had tied the mark.

Ninety-year-old Austin Hayden of Chardon township teamed up with his son, M. D. Hayden, to complete a cut in 19 seconds.

SMALLPOX VACCINE RUSHED TO NEW YORK

City Battles Threat of Epidemic as 2 Die.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 14 — The navy department made a quarter-million units of smallpox vaccine available to health officials today, and the army sought other supplies, as the city moved to protect its 7,500,000 citizens against the first outbreak of the disease in eight years.

From Millbrook, 75 miles north of New York City, came word that four cases had appeared in that community of 2,000. New York City has five cases, and two persons have died—the first victim an importer who came here from Mexico. These were the first smallpox fatalities here since 1912.

Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallander, arranging to have 82 police precinct stations functioning as vaccination clinics by Wednesday, said last night the outbreak could become one of the city's "worst emergencies." Fire stations also may be mobilized in the vaccination program.

Harmonaires To Sing Here Tuesday Night

When the Harmonaires, musicians from radio station WLW, present a concert in Marion tomorrow night, their program will include a variety of composition and interpretation. The event will be held at Thomas A. Edison Junior High school at 8:15, and is sponsored by the Marion Business and Professional Women's club.

In keeping with their background, they are especially adept at presenting Negro spirituals with the particular "flavor" and feeling of the old south, but their versions are described as "fast and rhythmic in a style all their own." Their repertoire includes songs both of other years and of today. Popular ballads, novelties, classical numbers, hymns and southern folk songs are among the more than 700 numbers which they have committed to memory. Sharing in their success on the radio and in personal appearances, with much credit given to him, is their director, Raglan Reid, Columbus attorney and musician. It was announced today that there will be approximately 75 tickets available at the door tomorrow night.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION HEAD CAUGHT IN RAID

Grand Rapids Clergyman Nabbed in Police Sweep-Down.

By The Associated Press

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 14—Rev. Theodore H. Franke, 48, president of the Grand Rapids Ministerial association, faced arraignment today on a charge of frequenting a place where illegal business is conducted following a vice raid Sunday.

Sgt. Laurin Dunn, head of the police vice squad, said Franke, pastor of St. John's Evangelical church here for nine years, was one of eight persons taken into custody during the raid in the downtown district.

The building was listed in police record as a "watched place," according to Sgt. Dunn, who said two women were among those arrested.

Rev. Franke, father of two sons, was released on $100 bond. He did not preach at regular Sunday services and Leon Hende, head of the church board of elders, said the pastor had submitted his resignation.

Sgt. Dunn said he ordered the raid after Archie Barnhart, 26, hit him with a piece of brick or stone while he was making a routine investugation.

who signs himself "Scrutator" asked "what conceivable claims" Wallace, a private citizen, had to BBC air time. He added:

"Americans will ask themselves whether some hidden anti-American influence has been at work. Perhaps our own authorities might predently examine the question."

British newspapers have reported accusations in the U. S. that Wallace is violating a law limiting private citizens' talks with foreign governments when aimed at influencing those governments' attitudes toward U. S. policy.

The conservative London Daily Mail commented today that Wallace was "honest and well meaning" but that "his path to the stars is rather foggy."

"We suggest that Mr. Wallace has come to the wrong address," it said. "He should be delivering his homilies either in Washington or in Moscow."

Wallace Accused Of Bad Faith Or Misunderstanding

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 14—Henry Wallace's statement in London accusing his senate critics of hysteria shows "lack of good faith or a complete lack of understanding what the United States is trying to do," Earl Bunting, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said today.

Bunting, here for a regional meeting of the southern Ohio and Kentucky business organizations and NAM, also told newsmen that the former vice-president's "lack of understanding" was "coupled with a misconception of the American definition of democracy."

The statements by Wallace, however, should be viewed with alarm, Bunting continued, "for they raise the questions that either he is not speaking in good faith and is harming the U.S.A., or he has a complete lack of understanding of what America and American business is trying to do."

Commenting on President Truman's statement last week that the future of our economy was up to business, Bunting said:

"It must be remembered that in many lines prices already are dropping slowly and that the biggest price rises in the last year have stemmed from agriculture, and government itself was to blame for that, for its blind buying and for not taking into its confidence those people whose buying is planned to meet the needs of the country and the conditions of the market."

Bunting asserted that industry and business had made no moves to lower salaries and contemplated none, but he said industry was interested in seeing that labor gets the most production out of each man hour.

"CIO President Phil Murray is quoted as saying business would be blamed for a wave of strikes if labor were refused wage increases," Bunting said. "But business is doing its part by seeking to lower prices and thus increase the value of the dollar, and I must give Murray's statement right back at him that any widespread strikes would be the fault of labor leaders."

The NAM president said there was a need for corrective labor legislation and that he would endorse meetings between industry, government and labor "for a meeting of the minds on methods to prevent strikes."

GREEN CHIDES FUNDS POLICY OF CONGRESS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—AFL President William Green chided congress today for planning to spend more "for the protection of migratory birds and other wild life" than to "protect workers' minimum wage standards."

The labor leader said some $6,000,000 was proposed to aid wildlife in the fiscal year beginning July 1 while the house "has appropriated only $4,057,400 to protect workers' minimum wage standards."

Green's protest was prepared for the senate appropriations subcommittee which is reviewing some $14,000,000 slashed out of operating funds for the labor department by the house.

The AFL president did not ask for restoration of any specific amounts but urged "adequate" funds because, he said, the "department's function is to promote the welfare of more than 40 million wage earners and salaried workers."

Terming the maintenance of high production important at this time, Green added.

"It is not economy to paralyze the services that can assist management and labor to effect wise adjustments."

"LINDY" SEES ROLE FOR U.S.

America Must Rebuild Western Civilization, Flier Believes.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 14—Charles A. Lindbergh says that this nation must help rebuild western civilization even though "it may involve the use of military force," because in a rocket-atomic age, the welfare of other nations is almost important, it is vital to us.

Lindbergh, in a prepared statement issued last night, said that we Americans could not live safely behind our own defenses, but now, "no earthly defense is adequate defense against the latest weapons of offense."

The request for comment in connection with the anniversary of the historic New York-to-Paris flight 20 years ago. Lindbergh replied that he was "not" interested in anniversaries but was concerned primarily with his obligation, as a citizen and one who had been outspoken previously, to make his position clear in America's foreign policy.

Recalling that seven years ago he had urged that western powers refrain from war while Nazi Germany and Communist Russia fought out their totalitarian ideas," Lindbergh said, "I plead again for a consistent American policy toward Europe."

"It would be disastrous," he added, "for us to continue wavering back and forth between intervention and withdrawal. We made our decision when we entered the war. Our honor demands, our security depends on carrying through what we have started.

"We must help to rebuild western civilization. We must reestablish and protect the ideals we believe in. This will require our extending financial assistance. It may require the use of military force. But no necessary cost is too high for the accomplishment of these objectives. * * *

"Our security now depends on preventing the assembly of modern weapons by an aggressive power. It depends on the cooperation of peoples who believe in the freedom and dignity of man and in a way of life that is basically similar to ours."

HELICOPTER SERVICE SET UP FOR STATE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 14—Commercial helicopter service for advertising and news photo-snapping will be introduced to Ohioans this week.

President Anthony A. Walzak of the suburban Brooklyn Ideal Flying service and Herbert J. Tanner, operator of a Willoughby Twp. flying service, currently are competing for the honor of introducing to Ohio commercial service the rotary-type planes, which fly in all directions.

Cleveland's new memorial Shoreway airport along the shores of Lake Erie will receive its first regular use when Walzak's new, two-place Bell 47-B helicopter spins in from Niagara Falls, N. Y., Saturday. Walzak now is completing training at the Niagara Falls Bell front, after recording 4,000 hours in conventional planes.

Planning to base his 'copter at Brooklyn airport until completion of facilities at the lakefront strip, Walzak said his ship would be rented to newspaper and newsreel cameramen and for advertising jaunts. He and maintenance Engineer F. R. Schroeder of Cleveland Heights plan to open a helicopter school this summer.

Do Not Discount Youth In Funeral Service . . .

When it comes to funeral service, there is much that can be said in favor of a younger organization. It means more recent education and training in the modern methods of embalming.
The Hughes Funeral Home offers a two-fold advantage in this respect. All that is modern will be found in our methods, and yet there is sufficient experience to assure understanding.
The management invites your careful consideration of these things. In them you may find the answer to a satisfactory service when the need arises.

U. S., with Air Raid Warning Scrapped, Open To Surprise

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—The United States—its wartime aircraft detection network all but dismantled—is virtually wide open to a surprise attack from the air.

An unofficial survey indicated this today following the disclosure last week of a document dealing with war department thinking on the national security effects of the atomic bomb.

That document, prepared primarily for congressional use, commented that present-day methods of delivering an atomic attack are limited to long-range bombers or bombs smuggled in by agents. Rocket delivery is something to be reckoned with in the future, the paper said.

Questioned by a reporter concerning the aerial assault theory, officers assigned to the development and employment of defense weapons emphasized that the greatest problem would be the detection of any attacking force in time to get fighter aircraft and anti-aircraft guns into action.

During the war the seacoasts, borders and interior of the country were covered by a tie-in radar network which detected the approach of aircraft from any direction and plotted its course as it moved inland.

Demobilization reduced army and navy manpower to the point, however, where it no longer became possible to operate this detection complex. While it is presumed that local defense areas still in operation continue to use radar detection equipment, they are not numerous enough nor linked together to form a screen.

LABOR

"would be scrupulously fair" to the employer, the employes, and the public. They asserted it would bring "widespread industrial strife to an end."

The American worker's mind, soul and life "have been subject to a tyranny more despotic than one could think possible in this free country," the majority contended.

They called the bill "neither drastic, oppressive, nor punitive."

But the six opposing Democrats said the bill would make "practically all strikes unlawful" and "turns the clock of history back at least a century and a half."

Renders Labor Impotent

They said it would "swell the coffers of our gigantic industrial combinations by rendering labor impotent."

It "forces the fair-minded employer to cut his wages to the level of his worst sweat-shop competitor," the dissenters asserted.

The bill would outlaw such things as the closed shop, most collective bargaining on an industry-wide basis, many types of specific strikes, and mass picketing and violence on picket lines.

It sets up a formula under which the government could cope with strikes affecting the welfare of the entire nation.

It also provides a "bill of rights" for workers intended to protect them against various union practices.

While the house made ready to begin tomorrow its debate on the far-reaching legislation, visiting CIO leaders began buttonholing congressmen in an attempt to hold off passage of the measure.

The union leaders heard CIO President Philip Murray assert that the measures are "the first real step toward Fascism in the United States."

"Truman On Spot"

Aiken told a reporter he thinks Saturday's 21-7 vote by senate Republicans — to keep senate labor law proposals wrapped in a single all-or-nothing bill—was "an attempt to put the President on the spot."

He said the decision was maneuvered by Taft because the chairman "apparently feared he was going to be licked" on the question in the labor committee and therefore went to the Republican membership conference for advance support before the committee could decide anything.

Red Sox and Cardinals Probably Will Repeat, Says Sports Dopester

By FRANK ECK
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Everybody seems to be picking the St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Red Sox. The writer is going to be different by selecting the Red Sox and the Cardinals, believing the Bosox have a better chance to retain the American league championship than the Cardinals have of keeping the National league pennant.

The World Champion Cards have more questions to answer than a baseball writer who hasn't seen his wife for six weeks. They could very well lose out to the Brooklyn Dodgers if either Terry Moore in center field or Whitey Kurowski at third base fails to play typical ball. Moore, usually a defensive gem, has been slowed down at 34 by bad legs and Kurowski had five bone chips removed from the elbow in his throwing arm. Two weeks before the season opened Moore had yet to see exhibition service in Florida and Kurowski was lobbing his throws.

Problem In Left

Manager Eddie Dyer also has a problem in left field. It's a tossup there between Harry Walker and Erv Dusak. Walker batted only .237 last year, but Dusak did only three points better.

The Red Birds, however, still have their big guns on the attack in StanMusual and Enos Slaughter.

The Red Sox have strengthened their attack and pitching since they won the American League flag by 12 games. Ted Williams figures to have a great year.

Aiding pitchers Boo Ferriss, Tex Hughson, Joe Dobson and Mickey Harris are four rookie stars—Tommy Fine who won 17 in a row for Scranton, Harry Dorish, Mel Parnell and Al Widmar.

Weak Spots Solved

Third base and right field, Manager Joe Cronin's weak spots for the last two years, probably will be solved in the first weeks of the season. Frank Shofner, who hit .305 at Louisville, and Glen Russell are fighting for third while Sam Mele, a .342 hitter with Scranton, has the inside track on right field.

The Yanks are being picked right behind the Red Sox because they have three star rookies in Pitcher Don Johnson, who didn't allow an earned run in 35 exhibition innings at St. Petersburg, Right Fielder Larry (Yogi) Berra and Third Baseman Bobby Brown.

Joe DiMaggio will be missing from the lineup the first few weeks but Manager Bucky Harris is counting on him to be in top shape by May 1. DiMaggio missed all but the last two weeks of spring drills due to an operation for the removal of a bone spur in his left heel.

Detroit Drops Notch

Detroit, second last season, is rated third because the Tigers are Greenberg-less. Hank hit 44 homers last year, 18 of them in September when the Tigers passed the Yanks. The big Tiger claw is southpaw Hal Newhouser, a 26-game winner, but they have only one Newhouser.

THE PROBABLE FINISH

National League '47	'46	American League '47	'46
St. Louis	1	Boston	1
Brooklyn	2	New York	3
Boston	4	Detroit	2
Chicago	3	Washington	4
Cincinnati	6	Cleveland	6
Pittsburgh	7	St. Louis	7
Philadelphia	5	Chicago	5
New York	8	Philadelphia	8

The Washington Senators appear destined to finish fourth as they did last season. Their big noise is first baseman Mickey Vernon's bat. Manager Ossie Bluege looks for better pitching from Early Wynn and Sid Hudson, veteran right handers who returned from war duty last year.

The Cleveland Indians, sixth in '46, improved when they obtained Joe Gordon from the Yankees and they should finish fifth.

The St. Louis Browns might finish sixth, a notch higher than last year, if the bats of Jeff Heath and rookie first baseman Jerry Witte begin clicking to aid Vern Stephens, the club's only .300 hitter. Witte hit 46 homers at Toledo last year. Others who could help the Brownies are rookie catcher John Moss, also up from Toledo, who will be the team's No. 1 receiver, and Pitcher Jack Sanford.

Chicago is being tagged for seventh on the theory that Luke Appling, their lone .300 hitter, is 38 and can't go on forever. Dave Philley, a .329-hitting outfielder at Milwaukee, is the best of the rookie prospects.

Philadelphia Athletics are headed for the cellar for the third straight time. Their only noticeable improvement is Don Richmond, rookie third baseman who batted .292 at Toronto.

Dodgers Rate High

Behind the Cardinals the Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves rate high. The Dodgers are loaded with young pitchers but Pete Reiser remains their No. 1 problem and the sale of Augie Galan to Cincinnati can't be construed as a help in Flatbush, nor can the fact that Charley Dressen and John Corriden, have moved over to the Yankees.

Two bright spots for Brooklyn most likely will be veteran campaigners Pitcher Kirby Higbe and Dixie Walker, the team's only .300 sticker in 1946. Higbe won 17 games last year and looks capable of 25 right now.

The Braves figure to play a lot of good ball for Billy Southworth, who never managed a second division team. His third base and first base problems should be solved with Bob Elliott, obtained from Pittsburgh, at the hot corner and rookie Earl Torgeson on first.

The Cubs have been dropped from third to fourth for they finished only one game ahead of Boston last year and have made no deals to strengthen their cause. Cliff Chambers, a lefty who won 18 games for Los Angeles, looms as the best rookie pitcher.

Reds Move Up

Cincinnati is moved up to fifth place because the Reds obtained a necessary .300 hitter in Galan, have a great third baseman in Grady Hatton and boast one of the best pitchers in the majors in Ewell Blackwell who compiled a 2.46 earned run record last season with a sixth-place club.

The Pirates, too, should pick up in the standings. Billy Herman, guiding his first club, has Greenberg's bat to help him.

Ben Chapman, who hustled his Phillies into fifth place last year, hasn't obtained much talent to improve his club. Del Ennis, rookie star of '46 and the club's only .300 hitter, has been late rounding to form and first baseman Frank McCormick, a valuable asset, has back trouble.

If the Giants are to improve, catcher Walker Cooper and first baseman Johnny Mize will have to give Mel Ott's charges more help than last year.

The Giants have some phenomenal rookies in Clint Hartung, an outfielder who hit .358 at Eau Claire, Wisc., in '42 but who has yet to prove himself in the big show; infielder Jack Lohrke from Spokane and San Diego, and pitchers Larry Jansen, Bill Ayers and Earl McGowan.

Three Track Meets Scheduled for This Week On Prospect Cinders

First Booked Today; Others Set Tomorrow and Thursday

Three track meets, the first today, are scheduled this week at Prospect.

Today New Bloomington, Waldo and Grand Prairie have a meet carded; tomorrow, Prospect, Richwood, Pleasant and Marseilles are booked; Thursday, Martel, Caledonia and Waldo will compete.

Of the schools active today only the Waldo thinclads have seen action. In a meet last Thursday with Marseilles, Prospect and Caledonia they placed fourth with 15¼ points.

Win Two Events

They took first place in two events—the broad jump and pole vault. Salyer posted 19 feet 5½ inches in taking the broad jump and Loyer vaulted 10 feet.

Other events in which the Waldo outfit picked up points were the high jump with Loyer placing third, the pole vault with Salyer tying Parsell of Marseilles for fifth place, the 100-yard dash with Sawyer crossing the line fifth, the mile run with Craig placing fifth, and the half-mile run with Gerber placing fifth.

In tomorrow's races county interest will be in the Pleasant crew. For the past few years they have put out the top county track teams and should they outpoint Marseilles they would again be favored to win this season.

Marseilles and Prospect both were active in the track meet at Prospect last week. Marseilles posted the high team score, 84¼. Members of the team picked up points in every event and took firsts in the 100-yard dash, the 440-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, the half-mile run, and the mile relay.

Prospect Wins High Jump

Prospect took first position in the high jump and won enough points in other events to capture third place in the meet with 22 points.

Pleasant has lost Dick Hedges and Joe Grace, two of their top point men last year, but will have returnees ready to go in many events.

Charles Mayers is back for the sprints and broad jump; Jim McClaskey, high jump; Charles Dawson, hurdles; Don Dutt, mile run; Jack Merchant, half mile; Tom Millisor, pole vault; Dick Herr, discus; Don Hall, Howard Johnson and Ron Gorby, the relays, and Milan Gorby is a distance runner.

MEET THE CUBS

Pitcher Brown Gets All-Out Trim From Local Barber Shop

Leeland S. Brown, 21, of Kankakee, Ill., is a bit wary of Marion barber shops.

Lee went to a local shop upon arriving here and told them to cut it short. Now with his skull showing through the bristles he says he didn't mean that short.

He has been contracted by the Chicago Cubs for three years but complications such as illness, a tour of duty with the Navy, and home sickness have kept him from putting in a full season in organized ball.

He was with a club in the south last year but did not care for the city and so went back to Illinois before the season opened. This year he states that he is going to stick with the Marion club as long as possible.

He was reported as being a pitcher but is after a position in the outfield. He stands five feet 11 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds.

Two other players here for spring drills are from Kankakee. They are Bruce Adams a catcher, and Aaron Gray, an all around infielder.

PIRATE 1ST SACKER HURT IN EXHIBITION

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 14 — Temporary loss by injury of his ace first basemann forced Manager Billy Herman today to reshuffle the Pittsburgh Pirates' lineup for their season's opener with the Chicago Cubs tomorrow.

A severe ankle sprain suffered in Sunday's exhibition game with the Columbus American Association club is expected to keep heavy hitting Elbie Fletcher out of the Pirates' lineup for three or four weeks.

Herman said he was considering assigning outfielder Hank Greenberg or infielder Whitey Wietelmann to replace Fletcher and that he might elect to play first base himself. Herman used to play first for the Boston Braves.

Covering home plate, Fletcher tagged outfielder Bill Howerton of Columbus for the third out in the eighth innings but was knocked into the air by Howerton's slide and fell on his right foot, temporarily dislocating the ankle.

Besides losing Fletcher the Pirates also lost the exhibition game 2 to 1.

Coss Takes Hazen's Measure, 8 to 2

Club President's Team Downed in Marion Intra-Squad Exhibition Game at Lincoln Park.

By GEORGE ROEST

Forest Coss took Judge W. Dexter Hazen's measure yesterday at Lincoln Park.

Manager Nelson Burbrink divided the Marion Cubs into two camps for an intra-squad game, the one carrying Coss' banner, the other Hazen's. An estimated 350 local fans showed up to see Coss win, 8 to 2.

Manager Burbrink used his pitchers for two innings each four mound candidates hurling for each team.

Edington Starts for Coss

Marion's Edington started for Coss and Johnny Tate for Hazen's. Neither allowed a hit. Six men faced Edington, nine faced Tate.

In the third inning, Frank Smith of Watertown, N. Y., relieved Edington, fanning Garrison, of Ashley, and Bruce Adams of Kanakee, Ill. Tate flied to center and Coss came to bat.

James Regula of Mansfield relieved Tate ,and set Coss down one, two, three, fanning Alex Kolbicka of Ashley, Pa., and Mel Weibel of Lowden, Ia.

Keeps Game No-Hitter

In the first of the fourth, Smith kept the game a no-hitter for the Coss moundstaff and the dam broke in the last of that stanza John Scabo of Chicago was hit by one of Regula's offerings, went to second on a passed ball, and stole third.

Bob Diedrick batted one through Regula and shortstop Tutera's throw to first was missed by Forbes, Didrick going to second and Scabo going home

Bob Meyers grounded to Regula and was thrown out. Bob Boddy walked. Chester Luncki doubled to right, stretching it to a triple and bringing in Diedrick and Boddy. Smith grounded to first and Luucki went home to wind up the scoring. Winston Brendell relieved Regula to finish the inning.

In the fifth, Bill Rosin relieved Smith and Jim Forbes and Aaron Gray went home on a base hit by Bruce Adams.

Score Four Times More

Coss picked up one more run in the fifth, two in the sixth, and one in the seventh.

Frrank Emerson relieved Brendell in the seventh to finish for Hazen and Ray Alman relieved Rosin to finish for Coss.

As only four hits were recorded for Coss and two for Hazen, Manager Burbrink decreed fielding and batting practice for today. He says that hitting will be emphasized.

The Cubs will see their first action against foreign opposition April 23 at Newark and they entertain Newark April 25. Both are exhibition games.

Lineups Yesterday

The club went into its first intra-squad game after four days of practice.

The lineup for Coss yesterday, omitting the pitchers, was Kolbicka, cf: Weibel, rf; Bobzean, ss; Scabo, lg.; Diedrick, 1b; Meyers, 3b; Boddy, 2b, and Luucki, c.

The lineup for Hazen's was T. Parrott, lf; Brown, rf: Tutera, rf; Sukniac, cf; Forbes, 1b; Gray, 2b; Garrison, 3b; Adams, c; Burbrink, c; and Higgins, 3b.

Harding Baseball, Track Teams Set For First Action

High school spring sports start rolling this week as Harding has a baseball game scheduled with Pleasant here and a track meet slated at Ashland Wednesday afternoon.

The Harding club will go against Pleasant with four days of practice under its belt.

Pleasant will be bringing the team to Marion which won four games while dropping none last fall. Don Dutt, curve ball artist, is counted on heavily by the Townshippers.

Coach Simpson is still looking over his track men but will have to make a choice of performers for Wednesday's meet.

Ronald Osborne and Howard Tillis are the only two candidates out, who have had much experience in meets. Osborne is handy with the shot put and Tillis is a discus man.

Rookie Truman To Hurl Initial Ball Today.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14 — President Truman, a rookie southpaw from Missouri, unwinds the first pitch at Griffith Stadium today to touch off the official opening of the 1947 baseball season.

Immediately after the President tosses out the first ball the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees begin the year's first game. All other clubs will wait until Tuesday to play.

Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, were to accompany the President. Mr. Truman also will have as guests in his banner-draped box Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich), O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) and Connally (D-Tex), Speaker of the House Martin (R-Mass), and Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy.

Gift of Prophecy

NEW YORK — Writing from Havana one week before Brooklyn Manager Leo Durocher drew a one year suspension, AP Sports Editor Frank Eck said:

"Durocher sat on the bench like a man in a fog or like a manager running his ball club for the last time."

Tribe Ready for Play, Tagged To Wind Up in Fourth Place

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 14—The Cleveland Indians were back home today, ready for the opening of their first full season under energetic president Bill Veeck and consigned by a majority of the experts to fourth place—two notches above their finish last year.

There are plenty of "ifs" which might put the club in a higher spot but no one is expecting a pennant. Veeck has done his best to strengthen his club in the open market, but players can't just be acquired on the strength of a heavy bankroll, and consequently the rebuilding of the Indians will be a process involving several years.

The club holds a workout in the lakefront stadium today. The opening game Tuesday will find Bob Feller on the mound for the Tribesmen and either Joe Haynes or Ed Lopat hurling for the Chicago White Sox.

The Indians closed their exhibition season yesterday in New York with a convincing 11 to 6 triumph over the Giants. Pat Seerey hit a tremendous homer with the bases loaded in the 10th inning . Hal Peck and Joe Gordon previously had homered for the Tribe. Gordon's clout in the ninth sending the game into an extra inning.

The Indians closed their exhibition campaign with a record of 15 victories and 21 defeats and seven triumphs in 17 games with the Giants.

Reds Loaf Awaiting Opener with Cardinals

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 14—Sporting a spring training season record of 18 wins in 30 games, the Cincinnati Reds took it easy at home today as they awaited their debut in the 1947 big show, the National league opener here tomorrow with the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The Redlegs wound up their play-for-fun schedule at Indianapolis yesterday by downing the hometown Indians, 6-1. Three of Cincinnati's brighest rookies, Eddie Erautt, Kent Peterson and Herman Wehmeier, put together a five-hit pitching materpiece. Ray Lamanno's double and a hearty triple by Clyde Vollmer, young outfielder, sparked Cincinnati's 10-blow assault.

As usual, Crosley Field will be packed to the roof girders tomorrow when Johnny Neun, successor to Bill McKechnie, presents his first Cincinnati team.

The Reds' "accent on youth" starting lineup probably will include three rookies: Frankie Baumholtz, center fielder and lead-off man who batted .343 for Columbia of the Sally league last season: Charlie Kress, first baseman, up from Syracuse of the International league where he hit .261, and right fielder Clyde Vollmer, who compiled a .275 stick mark with Rochester of the International.

Ewell Blackwell, the starting pitcher, will be one of three second-year players in the starting nine. Grady Hatton will be at third and Bobby Adams on second base

The rest will be familiar faces. Eddie Miller will be operating at shortstop; Augie Galan, the club's only .300 hitter (.310 with Brooklyn last season), in left field, with Ray Lamano catching the sinker tosses of Blackwell, six-five righthander.

The Cards, with either righthanders George Munger or Murry Dickson pitching, will present the same gang of swashbucklers who mowed down the Boston Red Sox in the World Series last fall.

The average opossum at birth is so small and light that it would take 270 of them to weigh an ounce.

CANCER FUND

ing through a paradoxical age which she described as a most constructive and destructive age. More people died of cancer during the last year, she said, emphasizing the need of more vigilance and study of the disease. Vigilance on the part of men and women in order that the disease may be discovered in the early stage and thus be cured, is vitally necessary if progress is to be made in stamping out the disease. Mrs. Harvey told of the research work now going on and also of grants to hospitals where doctors are carrying on this work. A cure she stated, may be discovered at any time, but in the meantime she urged that financing of research work be carried on and that the public in general be alerted to first signs or symptoms of the disease.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

I THINK my father was as relieved as I at the manner in which Philip Veritzen was taking the information that a ruse had been used to get him down to our apartment. But there was no hint of his relief in his matter-of-fact tones as he turned to Dr. Twitchell.

"I think Dr. Twitchell can explain the problem we face far better than anyone else," he said, and I felt like shouting "Huzzah!" for I had feared I would be the one selected to explain things to Philip Veritzen.

In His Element

But Dr. Twitchell was in his element. He had seen Philip Veritzen before, and he knew exactly the type of man with whom he had to deal. His manner was positively pontifical, I told myself, as he put the tips of his fingers together across what Dicky disrespectfully calls "the old doc's Santa Claus front," and spoke with slow emphasis.

"Here is our problem," he said. "Mrs. Noel Veritzen is in a most dangerous state, more mental than physical.

"I wish it were physical," he went on, "I would know what to do. Moreover, if she continues in her present mental condition, she is apt to pick up any illness.

Not the Immediate Problem

"That, however, is not our immediate problem. Tonight, in Mrs. Graham's hearing, she heartbrokenly declared that she would kill herself if a certain something were true—that that something is, we have not yet found out—and she repeatedly expressed a desire for death.

"I know what you naturally would say," he went on quickly, as Mary's father-in-law started to speak. "You would call it hysteria. But I will stake my professional reputation on the premise that she means exactly what she says. I have heard thousands of women threaten suicide. I have seen perhaps a dozen go through with the threat. Mrs. Veritzen will be the thirteenth if she is not saved from herself."

"Good God!" Philip Veritzen was out of his chair now. "What is it she fears?"

"We haven't time to find that out now," Dr. Twitchell said. "We must safeguard her first."

"Of course," Philip replied. "And no expense must be spared. Guards, nurses get all you need."

"We can't have people who will upset her," the physician said. "She is so near the border line that anything untoward might send her over into insanity—temporary, we would hope, but one never knows.

"I shall send her to sleep every night with strong sedatives," he continued, "for she must have rest above everything else. Mrs. Beckett and Mrs. Graham, both of whom she loves, will alternate in being at her side every minute of her waking hours, and while she is sleeping, one of them will remain in the apartment, although some member of the family can watch her slumber and call the nurse on duty if needed. Thus they can get some rest.

"But our present problem is this," Dr. Twitchell finished. "The windows must have bars. We can guard against everything else, and we can keep the doors locked, but an unguarded window—that is something I cannot risk."

Realized the Need

"Good God!" Philip Veritzen exclaimed again. "I should think not! And," he added, his quick brain realizing what was needed, "you must have them put up while she is under the influence of the sedative, so she will not be disturbed."

"That was my idea," the old physician said.

"Then," the Lansfield owner told him, rising, "consider it done. May I use your telephone, Madge?"

"Of course," I said.

He walked swiftly to the telephone, took down the receiver and spoke crisply.

"Mr. Veritzen speaking," he said. "Please get me Mr. Olsen immediately."

PLAN BRIDGE PROJECTS

MARYSVILLE—Largest part of the work to be done this summer by the Union county highway department will be in the line of bridge rebuilding, according to Donald Innes, deputy county engineer. Present plans call for the rebuilding of at least four bridges in the county, one of them a large span near Byhalia, which collapsed after it was struck by a truck last October.
